March 24, 1966

Bud Marschner, Manager
Radio Station WYBC
Yale University
New Haven, Connecticut

Dear Bud:

Enclosed is a tentative schedule of events for the 1966 Ivy Network Spring Convention, to be held here at Princeton. When locations for the events have been settled on we will send you enough copies of the final schedule so that each participant will have one.

We naturally want to encourage as many interested people as possible to attend the convention, and hope that you will make this opportunity open to all your station members. The wide variety of events to choose from, both in connection with the convention and Princeton's Response program, should provide something of interest to every station member. Female guests of station members (and female station members, those if you are fortunate to have them) are also welcome, but be sure to let us know in advance on the slip below.

Tickets to the Response events are free, but we have to get them ahead of time, so please indicate the number you will need below. One ticket will get you in to any or all events. Tickets for the Duke Ellington performance are $3.50 and $4.00. We have a limited number available, so first come first serve.

Rooms are available at hotels in town at $10 to $15 a night for a single. Less glamorous accomodations (a couch or spare bed) will be available in dorms of WPRB station members. Indicate your preference below. Female guests can either stay in a hotel or, for about $4.00, stay in the girls' dorm area of one of our upperclass eating clubs.

The cost to each participant will be $7.00. This will include the cocktail party and dinner on Friday, and lunch on Saturday.

If you have any questions, please contact me right away. We at WPRB hope that this year's convention will be one of the best ever. With the enthusiastic participation of all Ivy stations this would be assured.

Sincerely,

Jon Clark
